As a UK organisation with a distressed German subsidiary, there will be a number of questions that you need answers to.

Is insolvency the right scenario to be considering?

Or could business restructuring be the answer?

Do you know what your risks are in a German insolvency?

Will there be any liability for the parent company?

Will there be any personal liability for an officer of the German subsidiary?

Schultze & Braun has more than 20 years' experience working as administrators for courts and can answer all the questions you may have regarding the outcome of German insolvency procedures. We can tell you what a German administrator will look for when trying to establish the liability of the parent. We can also assess the risks involved in an insolvency scenario and help your officers avoid personal liability.
